Integrated Practice of Medicine Clinical Case Checklist

Integrated Practice of Medicine (IPM) Faculty creating and reviewing existing Cases of the Week are asked to consider further developing the cultural competence and diversity issues to be embedded into each case. This check list is created for you to review when developing the cases you are creating/reviewing/presenting for IPM.

✓ Consider including information about health disparities, health inequities, and/or determinants of health that can be seen with this patient’s condition and highlighted during the case presentation.

Other items to specifically consider which can add to the richness of the discussion and reflect the diversity of the population we serve:

✓ Patient’s race/ethnicity
✓ Sex and gender identity
✓ Sexual orientation
✓ English language fluency
✓ Religion; Does the religion lead to any health practices that could be considered?
✓ Socioeconomic status
✓ Disabilities (both mental and physical)
✓ Education level
✓ Immigration status (illegal, legal but with certain type of visa or green card)

For information on health disparities we have provided you with the following links: (https://www.americanprogress.org/issues/healthcare/news/2010/12/16/8762/fact-sheet-health-disparities-by-race-and-ethnicity/ and https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/books/NBK57034/)

Core Competencies

Try and include a balanced representation of these competencies over the course of the academic year.

✓ Medical Knowledge
✓ Patient care
✓ Communication
✓ Practice Based Learning
✓ Systems based Practice
✓ Professionalism