Start of Block: Default Question Block

Q1 The Johns Hopkins Interprofessional Collaborative (http://ipe.jhu.edu) invites you to help us learn more about your program's experiences with interprofessional collaborative practice (IPCP). You are being asked to provide information about efforts throughout your program because of your leadership role as either a Program Director or Associate Program Director.

Your feedback, combined with feedback from residents, will be used as part of a needs assessment to help us understand more about the systems and resources that may be needed to facilitate IPCP at Johns Hopkins. The Interprofessional Collaborative and the Graduate Medical Education (GME) leadership team will use this data to improve the information, education, and resources related to IPCP.

This questionnaire should take about 10 to 20 minutes to complete.

The School of Medicine's Office of Assessment and Evaluation (OAE) is assisting the Interprofessional Collaborative with gathering and analyzing program feedback. The Interprofessional Collaborative leadership and OAE will be the only groups with access to your identifiable responses.

Your feedback will also be shared with GME leadership in combination with feedback from leaders in other programs, but your name, role, and program will not be linked to your specific responses. Your responses will in no way impact your current or future employment at Johns Hopkins University or the services that are available to your program. Thank you for your candid feedback.
Q10 Interprofessional Collaborative Practice

Q3 What does interprofessional collaborative practice (IPC) mean to you? Think about how you would describe IPC to others, how you would envision it occurring in an ideal situation, or elements that create IPC practice, or other elements that lead to how you think about IPC.

Q11 The World Health Organization describes interprofessional collaborative practice (IPC) as follows:

Collaborative practice in health care occurs when multiple health workers from different professional backgrounds provide comprehensive services by working with patients, their families, caregivers, and communities to deliver the highest quality of care across settings. Practice includes both clinical and non-clinical health-related work, such as diagnosis, treatment, surveillance, health communications, management, and sanitation engineering.

Q12 Considering the definition above, does your program have any faculty members leading IPCP?

Examples: Care Pairing rounds model: Physician rounding with the care manager, nurse
Post event Huddle: Healthcare team gets together immediately after an event (e.g., a code) to see what went, where can improvement happen

☐ No
☐ Unsure
☐ Yes
